SALT TYPES

1.Sea salt: it occurs naturally in sea-water when an area of sea-water becomes enclosed, the sun causes the water to evaporate leaving layers of raw salt

2.Rock salt: over many millions of years, other sediments have been deposited above the salt, leaving the beds of rock salt below the surface of the ground.

Egypt is famous for its sea salt which is obtained mainly from its North coast over the Mediterranean Sea.

Many processes are used in Egypt for refining salt depending on its uses; however; unfortunately most of our exports of salt are still in its raw format.

PRODUCTION LINES

We have two production lines:

1 Refined & Extra Refined salt line.

Where the salt is mechanically washed with the best refining technology.

2 Pure dried vacuum Salt line (PDV) :

This salt is produced by dissolving a special raw salt to 25%, treatment to remove all physical and chemical impurities, then evaporation and recrystallization of the salt solution are taken under a vacuum.

- Our production lines have the ability to produce many salt grades and to provide our clients with any required particle sizes.
- Our production lines include the modern and best technologies to assure the highest quality to reach 100 % of purity.
- We follow a very strong food safety system and implementations for the needed steps for quality assurance.
- Sieves and metal detectors are installed in all packing lines to prevent any physical hazards.
